what? Of course, I'm working on the report. Almost done now! Absolutely!

There is so much more important stuff to do...

... like watering the weed by the stable. It cannot wait!

What? Of course, I'm working on the report. Almost done now! Absolutely!

Empty, bored, annoyed.
Also, I haven't patted Rinaldo for an entire 15 minutes.

That's it. Very important!

Nicky? Were you not supposed to be on weekend with Monique?

Erm, I didn't get the middle word.

Oy!
DAMMIT ...!

NICKY!

NICKY!!!

I NEED TO GET HIM INSIDE. UMF!

GROAN! HEAVE!

HUFF!

MM... F

UMPF!

Okay, let's see what's wrong with you, my friend.

Your pulse is a bit fast.

But your pupils are normal.

Normal temperature.

Babinski-test. Your reaction is...

... not normal!

Osman? Are you available tonight? Like... now?
Is the dented car in your driveway... his car?

Yeah.

And it got dented today? Has he been involved in a car accident today?

Likely the whole way from Paris. However, I don't believe those dents are the reason for his condition.

Because he drove almost 1000 km to Denmark to see me.

But why didn't he just go to the hospital in Paris?

He must have had a good reason.

Hang on...

... I feel a small bump behind cerebellum.

Why is that?

He needs an MR-scan, Dorthea.

Is there a scanner at the clinic?

Yes, but he really should be admitted!

Not going to happen. Let's go!

Nifty, old plumbing and... a table cloth?

Rinaldo's winter blanket.

Is he your colleague?

Yes.

What's your line of job again?

Renovation.
An hour later at Osman’s private clinic.

As the MR-scanner is generating a magnetic field, we need to remove anything that might contain metal.

Earmuffs. The scanner is very noisy.

Then we go inside the control room to start the scanner.

Holy cow!

And he’s scared out of his wits!

Bam!

Umm... boom... boom... boom...

He’s awake!